Fertilization of Tobacco

Many farmers question the use of nitrate of soda as a source of ammonia for tobacco. The Experiment Station at Appomattox has been testing nitrate of soda on tobacco practically from the beginning of its work in this county and has always obtained satisfactory results. The results from tests made on plats will give a better idea than you can get by consulting your neighbor or fertilizer dealer.

To avoid an erroneous conclusion the reader is requested to study each plat separately, and then compare the results of one plat with the other. For the benefit of the reader it will be well to note that these experiments were conducted on soil very low in fertility, and practically no humus.

Table showing results of fertilizer experiments on tobacco, 1918—J. W. Caldwell's farm:

Plat	Fert. used per acre	Yield tob. per acre
7—	800 lbs acid phosphate, 150 lbs nitrate soda	910 lbs
Plat 10—	800 lbs acid phosphate 100 lbs sulphate potash 600 lbs nitrate soda	1030 lbs
Plat 11—	800 lbs 3-8-3	640 lbs
Plat 8—	No fertilizer	60 lbs
Plat 12—	1000 lbs 3-8-3	680 lbs

Plat No. 8—no fertilizer—indicates the amount of tobacco grown on this soil with no fertilizer.

There is not much chance of getting enough nitrate of soda in your fertilizer to injure the crop. Some farmers are apparently afraid of this. The following formulas will indicate amount of ingredients to mix:

110 lbs nitrate of soda plus 1000 lbs 16% acid phosphate equals 1½ ammonia and 8% phosphoric acid, thus every time 110 lbs of nitrate is added to this mixture 1% of ammonia is added; hence to make a 4-8 fertilizer, use 440 pounds nitrate and 1000 pounds 16% acid phosphate.

Farm Labor

The farm service division of the United States Employment Service, in charge of Geo. M. Inman, Room 509 Va. Passenger & Power Bldg., Richmond, Va., are now making preparations to supply farm labor to the farmers of Virginia who desire it.

The world cry next year will be food and still more food. That the farmers of Virginia may have the labor required to produce a bumper crop, every energy of the farm service division will be directed.

Mr. Inman, through the branch offices of the United States Employment Service and its Federal Community Labor Boards, feels assured that all requisitions for help received from the farmers will be promptly filled.

Any farmer in the state desiring immediate help, or farm labor for next year should at once write to the U. S. Employment Service, Farm Service Division, Richmond, Va., stating his requirements. Full information as to terms on which such labor is desired, class of labor wanted, rates of pay and living conditions, should be in detail as well as any other information of value. Mr. Inman will make every effort to see that such wants are supplied without delay.

Oakville

We are very glad "flu" conditions seem to be improving in our neighborhood, though there are quite a few sick.

Mr. Johnny Herris and family are down with flu. Alex is right sick at this writing. The rest of the family seem to be improving.

Mr. K. L. Harris is confined to his room, suffering from several broken ribs.

Miss Susie Stratton has been very ill with flu and pneumonia. We are glad to say she is improving.

Mr. K. L. Harris is confined to his bed with flu. Kemper escaped for a while; we are afraid he did not run quite fast enough and the flu caught him.

The teachers of Oakville school take this opportunity to thank our patrons and friends for their suppor in the contest for the library, offered to the school selling the largest amount of War Savings Stamps per pupil. With your hearty co-operation you enabled us to win the library and five dollar raise in Oakville school. From our past experience with our patrons, we asked, and "The Oakvillains" came across.

We have not been told who offered the two prizes but we wish to express our many thanks to them.

Mrs. T. L. CHRISTIAN,
Miss LOIS LUCADO,
Mrs DELLA INGE.

Stonewall

The Stonewall school has been closed for some time on account of flu, but was reopened last week, with all teachers in place.

There is hardly a family in Stonewall vicinity that has escaped the dreadful epidemic.

Mrs. Frank Gough (nee Ethel Anderson) is quite sick with pneumonia at her father's, Mr Henry Anderson, 1017 Court St., Lynchburg.

Miss Sue Stratton, cf Lynchburg, has been very ill at her brother's, Mr. Marvin Stratton, near Stonewall. Her attending physician, Dr Ould, says she has passed the crisis and is improving slowly. Unfortunately her mother, who has just recovered from a long illness, could not be with her. Mes dames Sallie Carson and Tom and Fuller Drinkard have been with her. The best attention that could be given by these—with mothers' hearts full of love—was lavished upon her. Her cousin, Miss Susie Scrugge, a trained nurse of Richmond, is with Miss Stratton, having arrived yesterday to assist in nursing her.

The many friends of Miss Lizzie Rice regret to hear of her sickness at Westbrook, Richmond.

Petty's Fork

The flu situation is much improved in this section. All who have had it are out again and doing nicely.

Messrs. H. T. and J. Waldron White spent the past week with their sister, Mrs. N. D. Marshall. Waldron hopes to get his discharge from the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. W. W. Overton is visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Nathan Marshall.

Mr and Mrs T. H. Ford are on the sick list.

Mrs Glover Marshall has gone to see her people, nearly all of whom have flu.

Mrs K. E. Marshall has gone to Kenova, W. Va., where she will spend the remainder of the winter with her daughter. We hope she will return with the spring.

Miss Carrie Trent has accepted a position in Lynchburg.

Miss Pearl Caldwell, Mrs. N. D. Marshall and Messrs. Waldron White and DeWitt Marshall were guests of Miss Gladys Agee on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Dave Martin are visiting the former's parents here, Mr. and Mrs R. W. Martin.

Best wishes to Times-Virginian and its readers for 1919.

Bethlehem

Mrs. Harry Davis (nee Jennie Hunt), who has been critically ill with flu, is now said to be out of danger.

The young people of this place were delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Florence Frawke's on Saturday night.

Miss M. Beele Towler, who teaches at Darlington Heights, spent the week end with her home people here.

Mrs. Geo. Oliver, who has been numbered with the sick, is now much better.

Mrs. Joe Bell is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Johnson, at Beaver Dam.

The home of Mr. Jim Elliott, near Darlington Heights, was destroyed by fire Dec 29. All of the family had gone to church except Mr. Elliott. It caught from one of the up stairs rooms; scarcely anything was saved.

Mrs. J. M. Martin, who has been very sick, is much better.

Mrs. Nathan Bell has been confined to her bed for several weeks with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Mr. Richard Keating's entire family have been in bed with flu, though they are now improving.

Farmers are busy stripping and marketing their tobacco, with very satisfactory results.

Wheat is said to be looking well.

Mr Nathan Bell, who has been living at Beaver Dam for the past few years, expects to move to his farm near here, known as Bell View. We are glad to have Mr. Bell and family return to their old neighborhood.

Best wishes to the Times Virginian and its readers for a happy new year. POLLY.

In Memory of Private Nathaniel B. Stanley

The mighty din of the great war should not swallow up the memory of the brave soldier who has given his life to the world's cause. His passing one member of a vast army, and that army is so big and is doing such mighty things that they almost make one forget the individual parts of it.

He leaves all the warmer personal recollections and all the tender emotions in the hearts of those who knew and loved him because, at the end, he did merge himself and his life—all that he had—in one general cause of mankind.

His brave body lies in a grave far from his home to preserve his memory and communicate to others who loved him, what he has done to make the world a better place to live in.

Tender hands will keep his grave green "Over There;" but his memory rests in our keeping over here.

He left his home in perfect health;
He looked a young and brave,
We little thought how soon he'd be
Laid in a soldier's grave.
Somewhere in France
Somewhere in France he's lying.
Or maybe on Italy's soil;
What a glory was his dying
For Liberty, Country and God.
Somewhere in France;
My real brother can never die!
'Tis but his body that may lie
In foreign land; and we shall keep
Remembrance fond, forever deep
Within our hearts of our true brother
Because of triumphs that he won;
And when his vacant place we see
Our hearts will bound with joy that he
Was ours so long—our fair young son and brother.
Somewhere in France they buried him
Within a quiet lonely grave,
Unknown save by his fighting mates,
Who cheered the cause he died to save;
And for his sacrifice the Stars and Stripes
Still proudly wave—
Somewhere in France.

HIS SISTER.

Tower Hill, Va.

What Impressed Him.

At the age of four Thomas was taken to interview the menagerie. When the party stopped before the lion's cage Thomas' sister informed him that this animal was called a lion. For a few moments Thomas was bewildered at the abundance of flowing hair the lion possessed, and then suddenly exclaimed: "Some mustache, believe me!"

MAUD JAMISON

Maud Jamison, the three year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Jamison, died on the 19th at home at Stonewall, of influenza.

JOHN S. HOLT

John S. Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Holt, of concord, died at the Lynchburg hospital Wednesday morning, after a short illness of pneumonia. Besides his parents, he is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Daisy Morton and Miss Emma Holt, of Lynchburg; Misses Effie and Loma Holt, of Concord; J. S. Holt, of Spout Spring; and Private Wesley L. Holt, now in France. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Marsh at Bethlehem Methodist church, of which he was a member. The interment was in the family square of Concord cemetery.

CELIA HOOKER

This old colored woman died at her home, on Mr. Edgar Morris's place, last week at the age of 104 years. It is said that her sister lived to be 105 years old.

JOE FERGUSON'S SONS

Two colored boys, aged 19 and 21 years, died at Buckingham yesterday on the same day with the flu. These were good young colored boys.

Mr. Moyer Sate

To correct an erroneous impression that Mr. Edgar B. Moyer had been killed in France, we are requested to publish the following:

A letter received here under date of January 14 states that Edgar B. Moyer, a former teacher in A. H. S., is in Post Hospital, Hazlehurst Field, Mineola, L. I., N. Y., for an operation.

Mr. Moyer volunteered in the Aviation Corps of Lynchburg and trained with them for seven months at Camp McClellan. From there he was transferred to the aviation branch of service and was sent to Wichita Falls, Texas. He was made Sergeant Major and later became Master Signal Electrician of the Squadron 355.

The Squadron reached Minneola and were ready for overseas duty when the armistice was signed. Then Squadron 355 was mustered out in December Mr. Moyer was retained in the service and transferred to the 324th Observation Squadron, of which he is still a member.

Lieut. John B. Roller when last heard from, Jan. 9th, was at Nice, Alpes Maritimes, France, and reported having a wonderful trip. Roller is a 1st Lieut. C. A., Batt. B, 55th Artillery C. A. C.

Rogers—Coleman

At Liberty Baptist parsonage, on Jan. 11, at 5 o'clock, Mr. James Ottie Rogers and Miss Irene Coleman were united in marriage in the presence of a few friends and relatives, Rev. McElroy officiating.

The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of taupe serge with accessories to match. The groom wore the conventional black.

The bride is strikingly noticeable and her character is as lovely as her face. The groom is a popular and progressive farmer.

The bridal party repaired to the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Ayers, where an informal reception was held.

The young couple will go to housekeeping in their new home, three miles from Oakville. They received many nice and useful presents.

Many good wishes go with them this new year for a long and happy life.

What the Appomattox Canning Club Girls Did in 1918

In consideration of the fact that the girls' club work was in the hands of two Demonstration agents during the past year, the clubs have made a very creditable showing.

Thirty girls were enrolled in the following communities:—Appomattox, Pamplin, Spout Spring, Stonewall, Liberty Chapel and Vera. Those girls completing the year's work canned 1593 quarts of tomatoes in tin for market, and put up 452 containers of pickles, preserves and catsups from their tomato-vare gardens. The average cost of production and canning was $30, the aver ge profit $35. The highest record was 441 quarts of tomatoes, canned by Miss Elsie Carson, Appomattox, at a profit of $61 for the season's work. This does not include fruit and vegetables put up for home use.

Roughly estimated, the total value of the year's club products was $820.

The family of Mr. J. F. Coleman, of this place, is very ill with flu.

Miss Ethel Tolley, who spent last week with Miss Annie Price, returned home Sunday accompanied by Miss Price and her brother, Willie.

Our roads had just been dragged and were in fine fix, until the recent rain.

The neighborhood was very much grieved at the death of Mr. A. D. Elam, who died on Thursday, Jan. 9, and was buried Friday morning at eleven o'clock at the old Reynolds burying ground. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. George Webb, of Appomattox; Willie Elam, of this place; Mrs. Robert Reynolds, of this place; Mrs. Wiley Morris, of Farmville; Robert and John Elam, of Hope well; Miss Bessie Elam, of Farmville; Mary, Wiley and Ewin Elam, of this place.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

We understand that Mr. Lacy Thornton of Pamplin, has moved to his farm near Elam

NEW PORTRAIT OF DICKENS

Engraving of Noted Author, Revenanced by Lovers of Literature, Recently Sold at Auction.

A new portrait of Dickens, hitherto unknown, not only to his friends, but even to his family, is surely a rare discovery, says Christian Science Monitor, commenting on the fact that Dickensians had the pleasure of seeing its reproduction in a recent issue of their paper. The portrait, which is a crayon drawing, is signed W. J. L., initials which are believed to stand for W. J. Linton, the famous wood engraver, the author of several pictures for "A Christmas Carol" and "The Chimes."

It was from Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, W. J. Linton's wife, that Dickens bought Gadshill place, but there is apparently no record that Linton ever visited Dickens there. It cannot, in fact, be determined whether this new portrait was done from life or not. It evidently has been in America at some time or other, for on the back of it appears: "New York Transfer Co., Dodd's Express, 944 Broadway, New York." The portrait was recently sold by auction in London, and is now the property of Messrs. Leggatt Bros. of Cheapside.

IN MATTERS OF EDUCATION

Question Where Authority for the Proper Conduct of Operations Should Be Rightly Placed.

Fundamentally the determining factor in educational administration becomes today one of finance. The school superintendents declare themselves unable to raise more money locally than is already furnished. The whole question of educational finance in relation to local taxation has not yet been adequately considered to determine the validity of such statements. Without going further into this problem an agitation has been begun for securing aid from the federal government. It is argued that the federal authority today is in a better position for levying taxes than is the local authority, that the nation as a whole is likely to suffer unless national measures are adopted for combating illiteracy, Americanizing the immigrant, and improving the physique of the citizens, and finally that teachers may now be regarded as performing service of national importance—New Republic.

is run especially for the eye of those who live away from Richmond.

Last week a nice account was opened through the mail by a resident of Southside Virginia.

On the signature card, in answer to the question "Introduced by whom?" he replied, "Times-Dispatch!"

Many of our customers live out of town, and transact their business by mail.

We want others!

Please note the attractive terms:

3% interest allowed on daily balances, subject to check in the usual way.
